

LITERARY NOTES.

Mr. Phil Robinson's forthcoming work is to be entitled "The Bridge to America."

M. Cherbuliez has written a new novel with the title of "Le Ferme du Choudard." It is to appear serially in the Revue des Deux Mondes.

Mr. E. C. Stedman is to have in the next Century a musical and dainty piece of verse. The frontispiece is to be a portrait of Mr. George William Curtis.

The Rev. Edward Everett Hale is relating his recent "Experiments in Spain" in the columns of The Boston Commercial Bulletin. Mr. Hale is one of the most industrious writers in the country, and a complete list of his productions would be interesting reading.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co. A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purpose of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

J. W. Bouton publishes the first year's issue of Dumas' Art Annual. This is an agreeable illustrated record of the art exhibitions of the world in 1882. It contains about 250 original drawings reproduced in fac-simile, which are followed by critical notices of the exhibitions. The English, Scotch, American, French, Swiss, German and Russian exhibitions are all fully represented, the work thus furnishing an admirable and an approximately complete record of the most recent labors of the world's artists. The compilers apologize for the faults of a first attempt and state that, finding a single volume inadequate, they will hereafter publish two during the year.

BOOKS OF THE WEEK.

DUMAS' ART ANNUAL.—An Illustrated Record of the Exhibitions of the World, 1882, $10, pp. 324. (J. W. Bouton.)

MAGAZINE.—By Bjornstjerne Bjornson. Translated from the Norwegian by E. Anderson. 12mo, pp. 228. (London: Houghton Mifflin & Co.)

THE GOLDEN ALLEY.—Forms of Living Faith. By A. G. Sebe, D. D., 18mo, pp. 186. (London: D. P. Kampe & Co.)

IN THE WHIRLWIND.—By Emily Zola. 12mo, pp. 298. (Philadelphia: E. H. Peterson & Bros.)

FUNDAMENTAL QUESTIONS. By Edison L. Clark. 8vo, pp. 212. (New York: Putnam's Sons.)

LITTLE THE WATCHMAKER.—An Episode of the Polish Revolution. 8vo, pp. 125. (London: Blackie & Son; Philadelphia: Lippincott, Grambo & Co.)

PEALS OF THE FAITH. By Elwin Arnold. 12mo, pp. 319. (London: Robert H. Brethren.)

GREEK MYSTERY. By John V. Sanborn. 18mo, pp. 44; price, (London: New York: The Author.)

ENGLISH AUTHORS AND AMERICAN PUBLISHERS.

LETTERS FROM GEORGE W. SMALLEY AND WILLIAM BLAKE.—See Review.

PACKARD'S CATALOGUE.—See Review.

PREPARATORY SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL.—See Review.

PACKARD'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.—See Review.

PACKARD'S BUSINESS COLLEGE.—See Review.

UNIVERSITY GRAMMAR SCHOOL.—1,181 Broadway, New York. Prof. John H. C. Wright, A. M., Principal.

ART SCHOOLS.—CITY.

New Publications

BRENTANO'S.

FINEST CHRISTMAS DISPLAY IN THE CITY.

Mail orders for books, papers and magazines receive our best attention. Prices as reasonable as any other house in the city. Catalogues sent gratis. Subscriptions solicited to persons and families in selecting schools for their children. Circulars and intelligent information free, person to person.

RATES.—$600, $80 and $100. Return tickets on request.

For passage apply to:

W. H. BRENTANO, A. M., President.

BRENTANO'S Literary Emporium is open till 11 p.m.

NOW READY.

VAN NOSTRAND'S

ENGINEERING MAGAZINE

FOR

JANUARY, 1883.

Consecutively a New Volume.

Subscription price $5 per annum.

Single copies 50 cents.

D. VAN NOSTRAND, Publisher.

23 MURRAY AND 27 WARREN-ST.

PRESENT FOR THE NEW-YEAR.

A Traits of Representative Men, by C. W. WOODRIDGE.

At the bookstores, $1.50.

FOYLE & WELLS.

"BABY AND I"—Latest popular song.

J. W. PEPPER, Pub.

Sold by all music stores.

PARENTS SEEKING SCHOOLS FOR THEIR CHILDREN will find prospectuses of the best, either in city or country.

PINCKNEY'S SCHOOL AND COLLEGE GUIDE.

Described in most recent in selecting schools. At office, FREE post mail, 6 cents for postage. Special catalogues of the best schools furnished GRATUIT. Information concerning schools freely given to parents.

PINCKNEY'S AGENCY FOR SCHOOLS and TEACHERS.

Domestic Building, Broadway and 14th st., New York.

Instruction.

Miscellaneous.

A GOOD SCHOOL—How to find it! State purpose, size and sex, price desired, location preferred, with other particulars. The long experience of the author of Pinckney's School and College Guide gives Parents and Guardians the assistance in selecting schools for their children. Circulars and intelligent information free, person to person.

RATES.—$600, $80 and $100. Return tickets on request.

For passage apply to:

J. W. SCHIRMERHORN, Secretary.

7 East 14th Street.

THE REV. EDWARD EVERETT HALE is relating his recent "Experiments in Spain" in the columns of The Boston Commercial Bulletin. Mr. Hale is one of the most industrious writers in the country, and a complete list of his productions would be interesting reading.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice Journals of Lieutenant De Long," is in the press of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

A sketch of Commander De Long and an introductory chapter concerning the plan and purposes of the voyage will precede the journals; and they will be followed by the recollections of the survivors.

Mr. Trollope's last story, "The Land Leaguers," a few chapters of which have appeared in the English weekly Life, promises to be one of the most interesting of his works. It shows, however, no sympathy with Irish methods. Life, by the way, is to be republished in this country, to the disgust probably of the young gentlemen who are about to bring out a new paper under the same title.

Mrs. De Long's edition of "The Voyage of the Jeannette; the Ship and Ice J